Contents Volume 36

Vol. 36, No. 1

Polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons (PAHs) and mutagenicity of soot particulates in air emissions from two-stage incineration of polystyrene
J.-H. You, P.-C. Chiang, K.-T. Chang and S.-C. Chang (Taipei, Taiwan, R.O.C.). . 1

Pyrolysis of refuse derived fuel: Kinetic modelling from product composition
M.Rovatti, A. Converti, M. Bisi and G. Ferraiolo (Genoa, Italy) 19

Prediction of aqueous solubility and octanol–water partition coefficient for pesticides based on their molecular structure
G.S. Patil (Jorhat, India) 35

Deadly rescue: The confined space hazard
A.J. Suruda, T.A. Pettit, G.P. Noonan and R.M. Ronk (Morgantown, WV, USA). 45

Mechanisms of metal stabilization in cementitious matrix: Transmission electron microscopic study of C_3A/CuO fixation system
T.-T. Lin, C.-F. Lin and W.-C.J. Wei (Taipei, Taiwan, R.O.C.). 55

Removal of arsenic from wastewaters and stabilization of arsenic bearing waste solids: Summary of experimental studies
L.G. Twidwell, K.O. Plessas, P.G. Comba and D.R. Dahnke (Butte, MT, USA) . . . 69

Feasibility of using a mixture of an electroplating sludge and a calcium carbonate sludge as a binder for sludge solidification
G.C.C. Yang and K.-L. Kao (Kaohsiung, Taiwan, R.O.C.). 81

Modeling multicomponent volatile organic and water vapor adsorption on soils
S. Amali (Davis, CA, USA), L.W. Petersen (Aalborg, Denmark) and
D.E. Rolston (Davis, CA, USA). 89

Book Reviews 109

Vol. 36, No. 2

Special issue: Recent Advances in Chemical Fires and Explosions, Papers presented at the American Chemical Society, Division of Chemical Health and Safety, Washington, DC, 26 August 1992

Preface 131

Impact of low O_2 on fires
H.W. Carhart (Washington, DC, USA) 133

Lowering threshold limit values (TLVs) has additional benefits
E.K. Weisburger (Bethesda, MD, USA). 143

Safer alternatives to fire and explosions in classroom demonstrations
D.A. Katz (Philadelphia, PA, USA) 149

Laboratory safety course in the chemistry curriculum
E.G. Senkbeil (Salisbury, MD, USA). 159

Accessing industrial fire and explosion information in the CA files on STN
J. Steffy (Columbus, OH, USA). 165

CHEMTREC®'s role in hazardous materials emergency response
M.L. Donahue (Washington, DC, USA) 177

Fire department response to hazardous materials incidents
R.J. Stephan (Chevy Chase, MD, USA) 183

Book Reviews 187

Announcement 192

Vol. 36, No. 3

Comparison of heavy gas dispersion models for instantaneous releases
P.W.M. Brighton, A.J. Byrne, S.J. Jones, D.M. Webber (Warrington, Cheshire, UK), R.P. Cleaver (Loughborough, Leicestershire, UK), P. Courtiade, A. Girard, D. Nedelka, C. Proux (Nantes Cedex, France), B. Crabol, V. Lhomme (Fontenay-aux-Roses Cedex, France), R.D. Fitzpatrick and A. Mercer (Broad Lane, Sheffield, UK) 193

The build-up of concentration within a single enclosed volume following a release of natural gas
R.P. Cleaver, M.R. Marshall (Loughborough, Leicestershire, UK) and P.F. Linden (Cambridge, UK) 209

Mixing experiments on fluid released near the closed end of a two-dimensional channel
U.P. Gilmour and A.W. Woods (Cambridge, UK) 227

Behaviour of municipal solid waste incinerator flyash. I: General leaching study
Y. Gong and D.W. Kirk (Toronto, Ontario, Canada). 249

Solid oxygen source for bioremediation in subsurface soils
S.J. Vesper, L.C. Murdoch, S. Hayes and W.J. Davis-Hoover (Cincinnati, OH, USA) 265

Prediction of long-term NH_3 concentration using the superstack model
W.S. Bouhamra and A.S. Elkilani (Safat, Kuwait) 275

The reaction of ammonium nitrate with pyrite
H. Nakamura, M. Iwasaki, Y. Hara (Sensui-Machi, Kitakyushu-Shi, Japan) and S. Sato (Minasiri-Machi, Nobeoka-Shi, Japan). 293

Leaching characteristics of a model solidification/stabilization system: Tricalcium silicate and copper oxide
C.-F. Lin and T.-H. Huang (Taipei, Taiwan, ROC) 305
